

Since 1989, BlueDiamond has been producing high-quality computer, audio/video, and network cabling solutions for home and corporate users alike. Built to exacting specifications and backed by a lifetime warranty, BlueDiamond cables are designed to deliver the highest possible performance and longevity in virtually any operating environment.

BlueDiamond Cables follow rigorous testing and are all 100% approved with applicable safety regulations. Our quality control procedures ensure the highest possible quality level is maintained during production. Quality and proper electrical characteristics again verified during secondary inspection upon arrival in Canada. Our cables are made from 100% copper conductors and never "copper clad aluminum", which can be the mark of inferior cable brands.
